A REASON TO CELEBRATE!

Admit it, the last two school years have been pretty tough! However, the 2021/2022 school year gave us our first glimpse of hope that things could start getting better and that we could move a little closer to having a "normal" Littleton High School experience. This cautious optimissism led us to select "A Reason to Celebrate" as our theme for this yearbook. We hope you enjoy the efforts that we took in putting this book together, and that you can look back upon this school year in a positive light. There's a lot to celebrate!

Sincerely, Your Yearbook Staff:

Class of 2022

Soon enough, we will each be embarking on our own journeys beyond Littleton High school. While we're all excited for what's to come, it will be hard to leave the people many of us have grown up with. But as corny as it may sound, the knowledge we've gained, people we've met, and memories we've made will stick with us forever. Entering this next chapter of our lives may be scary, but our time at Littleton has prepared us well. Our class, more than any other, is built to be successful. We feel our class is full of ambitious, natural leaders. As a group, we all work very hard to accomplish whatever goals we have, whether that's in the classroom, in the workforce, or on the sports field. While no one likes to mention COVID, it has been a part of our story, and we think going through some of those experiences has helped us. It has helped us be grateful for the good times and how to navigate unusual circumstances, which will be useful in the next chapter of our lives. We're honored to represent all of you and this isn't goodbye forever, it's see you later.

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

Mikey Taylor
(Class President)

What kind of work do you do outside of school? How did you get involved in it as a high schooler?

Outside of school, I spend a lot of my time doing research on emerging sciences and technologies. I'm particularly passionate about neuroscience and artificial intelligence, and how they can be applied to mental health. I'm currently working at Affectiva, an MIT spin-off developing A.I. that can understand human emotions. In the past, I've done neuroscience and psychiatric research at Harvard Medical School and McLean Hospital, and have worked with various companies and nonprofits in the mental health field. I frequently speak at conferences and appear on podcasts to talk about my work and hopefully inspire others to make social impact. None of this would have been possible without the internet. I was able to make these opportunities for myself by gaining knowledge and skills online, and reaching out to people who I thought were doing really interesting work.

As class president, you've had to endure a lot of challenges over the past few years. What memories will you look back upon most fondly, and what do you consider your biggest accomplishment?

These past few years have been challenging, especially because of COVID-19. However, transitioning back to in-person learning for our senior year has been a blast. Whether it's watching the Littleton sports games or going to the school dances, I've seen our class become closer than ever this year, which makes me really happy. I'm especially looking forward to the senior events that we have planned for the end of the year. I'm proud of myself and fellow class officers for putting in the time to make our last year at Littleton High School the best it can possibly be.

What are your plans for next year and beyond, and do you plan to keep active with TikTok?

I haven't made a final college decision as I write this, but I plan on studying neuroscience, computer science, and psychology. I'm going to continue neuroscience research at Harvard Medical School this summer and will hopefully start my own company in the near future. In regards to my TikTok, I've been taking a break from posting, but I definitely plan on pushing more content when I have the time to do so.

Kasey Ricard

Over your time playing at LHS, you've had a lot of success and accomplishments. When you look back, what do you consider your most memorable moments, both individually and as a team?

One of my most memorable moments was my junior year when the softball team won district championships. I remember being so stressed and wanting to win the game so bad. The game was tied for so long that it lasted 12 innings and my arm felt like it was going to fall off. I remember my last at bat hitting a hard line drive to the outfield and remembering how I had to get to 3rd base so I could score if someone put a ball in play. After I ended up scoring the winning run I remember having to go out in the field to pitch one last inning. Getting the last out was one of the best feelings. I remember jumping up and down hugging my teammates and having the best feeling in the world since we worked so hard to win.

With the last two years being either canceled altogether or heavily modified, what do you look most forward to this season, with everything returning to "normal?" What are your expectations for the team?

Due to COVID canceling my sophomore year and modifying my junior year season so the team was not able to enter the state tournament, I look forward most to competing in the state tournament this year. The last time we were able to go to the state tournament was my freshman year and the senior class is looking for redemption after only making it to district semifinals. My goal for the team this year is to win states. It has been a goal for 4 years and I hope we get to accomplish it this year. I want to have as much fun as possible since it is my last time playing with my high school teammates.

How are you preparing yourself for DI softball next year? What are you hoping to accomplish in your college career and possibly beyond? Also, in addition to softball, where do you see yourself in 5-10 years?

I am preparing myself for college softball next year by following my weekly workout programs given to me by Boston University and continuing my pitching lessons. I also have been attending a bunch of Boston University softball games so I can talk with my coach and meet my teammates. I hope in my college career to be successful and maybe even break a few records at BU. In 5-10 years I see myself being a physician's assistant at a hospital. I coach pitching lessons now and I hope to still be coaching younger kids in the future.

Shae Regan

What inspired you to start running, and how do you feel about all of your accomplishments this year?

I originally started running because I enjoyed participating in road races with my family and decided to try indoor track in 7th grade, and soon fell in love with the sport for the people involved but also for how challenging it is. I loved how difficult it was to get better at running, and fell in love with the process of constantly challenging and testing yourself to improve performance.

I wanted to improve my times as much as I could this year, but was honestly surprised by how much I had improved by the fall, so I am excited to continue working hard for the outdoor season. My last cross-country race probably was the race that surprised me the most because I did not expect that I would run under 18 minutes, but I was really happy that I was able to! Another cross-country moment was when our team won the League meet!

In indoor I was happy with my 2 mile time and would like to improve it more in outdoor, and was also proud of our relays qualifying for nationals!

What's been more challenging for you, maintaining high academic achievement or maintaining your commitment to competing at a high level in track, and why?

I think maintaining academics has been more challenging because you can't outrun the deadline for an assignment or test. You get out of something what you put into it, so I've tried my best to work hard in both academics and running.

What are your plans next year, both in terms of running and at Northeastern in general?

Next year I plan to run cross-country and track for Northeastern, and am excited to work hard over the summer to get ready for the fall season and other seasons to come! I enjoyed meeting other girls on the team so I am looking forward to getting to join them.

I have not committed to any specific major at Northeastern yet and instead committed to their Explore program that lets me try different classes across their schools, but I think it will be fun getting to figure out what path and major I would like to pursue. I also have not visited Boston a lot growing up but I think it will be fun being in a new environment and getting to see more of Boston!

Enzo Schiappa

What's been your favorite thing that has come about from your Tik Tok fame, and how has it affected your high school experience?

My favorite thing that comes down to my fame is how many people I see who I've made smile or changed their lives everyday. Another thing would be the support that I have been growing towards these past few years. My "fame" affected my high school experience A LOT! There is so much interaction I get with my peers like "can I get a shoutout?" Or "How do you do it?" I love answering those questions because it makes me.... Me!

How did you come up with the idea to do Donald Duck impressions, and how do you come up with all of your video ideas?

7 years ago I got really bored one day where I got so bored that I started making the weirdest sounds with my mouth and voice. I did for 30 minutes straight where I had this one little Donald Duck noise... Quack. I was laughing so hard on that day and I wanted to train my voice to do it so I did! I've done the voice for 7 whole years now and I still need to learn how to do it longer! I came up with all of my video ideas with many things including my friends, my creative mindset and the power of the Tiktok FOR YOU PAGE!

What are your plans after graduating from LHS? What are your goals for creating future social media content?

My plans for graduation from LHS are still up in the air. I feel like I am having a tug of war between college and my job (Social Media). You're wondering "why not both?" I said that to myself too but I think it's easier to choose one thing over the other at that moment. My goals for social media are always changing. But I want to do something so amazing that I feel like everyone should hear it. I have gained all of this support for so long that I want to give it back to others. What I'm saying is I want to help others grow just the way I did. If you have a goal in mind and you really strive for it DO IT! Everybody at this school changed my life and I'm truly grateful for each and every single one of you! The Town of Littleton will always be in my heart!

Madelyn Kiernan

Where did you develop your passion for helping the community and doing charitable work?

The first community service event I ever did was when I was 10, when my Dad took me to help volunteer at Loaves and Fishes around Christmas time. From then on, I knew I wanted to continue to try to help those in need, and joining the Humanitarian Club at LHS has only affirmed that. Through events such as Rise Against Hunger, Polar Plunge, and the Holiday Bazaar, I have been able to try to give back to my community as much as possible. These experiences have led me to realize I want to become a social worker, so I can continue to provide aid and resources to marginalized populations.

Looking back on the last two school years and trying to coordinate service work during a pandemic, what were the biggest challenges you faced and how did you overcome them?

The biggest challenge for me was finding service opportunities since the pandemic limited in-person events. However, I really got into sewing face masks and donating them since they were in high demand. I also found an opportunity to volunteer as an archivist for the National Archives, which is all online, so that was a great way to continue community service on a national scale.

What service project has been the most memorable over your time at LHS and why?

DEI (Diversity, Equity & Inclusion) Club's project to add Diwali to the school calendar has been the most memorable as we were able to get it officially recognized, and get the day off, which allows students who celebrate it to take the time to do so properly. We were able to get over 500 signatures on our petition of support, we sent in several personal statements from students to the School Committee and we made multiple presentations to convince them. The vote ended up unanimous in favor of our proposal! Because of the time and effort we put in as students, we were able to get the proposal passed in a matter of months, whereas in other towns it has taken years. This was a huge win for inclusivity at Littleton Public Schools and it showed that we are taking steps in the right direction to have a more equitable school environment for students of color. Anne Li, Arav Arora, Giselle Kiernan, Rachael Friedman and Aarya Wachusunder also helped get this accomplished!

WINTER

Winter Highlights

We kicked off the new year at Littleton High school with a fresh snowfall and some state championships. The beginning of the winter started off with our school participating in the annual kindness week. All of the advisories participated in the door decorating competition and Mrs. Bearden's advisory group took the cake, literally, winning a buffet breakfast. Unfortunately, the fun was cut short this year when the winter semi-formal was cancelled again due to concerning COVID numbers. Luckily, two months later, the school mask mandate was lifted, and for the first time in two years, students were able to go to school without masks. Students seemed especially happy returning from February break without masks and even talked about how weird it was to see their peers' faces for the first time in what seemed like forever. The joy did not stop there, as the boys' indoor track team dominated all of their meets this season, winning the state championship and setting a few new school records along the way. The band got to soak up some sun for the first time in 3 years, continuing their trip to Disney in Florida. March was highlighted by our annual Spirit Week, where every class seemed to have a Disney-focused theme. Even though it was not a competition, each class went all out decorating their hallways according to their given theme. Speaking of going all out, with the snow banks covering the parking lot, students had to get creative with their parking jobs, often parking on top of curbs and in the visitors parking spaces. Overall, it was a positive winter and everyone's excited for spring.

1) Seniors pose with Mrs. Bearden after decorating her door for Kindness Week. 2) Shae Regan places first in the state for the 1 and 2 mile. 3) The girls' basketball team sporting new hoodies 4) Boys' indoor track adds yet another medal to their collection! 5) Members of the girls' basketball team run a Toys For Tots donation drive. 6) A group of sophomores hang out during lunch 7) Carley B representing the French Club at the Magic Kingdom 8) Bee Kind...get it? 9) The Humanitarian Club raise money for the Rise Against Hunger initiative during a basketball game. 10) Mikey T. and crew show their love for the kindness challenge 11) Be Kind Always!

Spring Highlights

The start of spring brings new hope for the rest of the school year. For the first time in two years, Littleton High School is starting to look "normal" again: masks are no longer required for student athletes or performers in the school play. COVID numbers are low and there is a lot to look forward to as the end of the year approaches.

On Saturday, April 30th, LHS will once again hold a traditional school prom, even allowing outside guests, to be held at The Chocksett Inn in Sterling. As of writing this, over 200 tickets have already been sold!

Things are also looking good for LHS spring sports' teams. Softball is hoping to continue its dominance on the diamond, a state championship is definitely within grasp. Both the Boys' and Girls' Track & Field teams all have realistic shots of being state champions. School trips have returned, with a group of students heading to Italy over April vacation, accompanied by Ms. Kelley, and Ms. Duffy. Lastly, graduation is right around the corner and the seniors are looking forward to their senior trip: a harbor cruise trip in Boston!
